

Carrion Crow

The jet black crow
was as white
as snow
when I blew upon his head

And black was white
in the middle of the night

When the moon's bright light
was shed

So it's only you and I will know

That the jet black
crow
was as white
as snow

When the moon's
bright light
was shed.

From Normanby Poems
by Bernard Walker 1982
ISBN 0 907843 01 8